

The parser applies a conservative dehyphenation pass to line ends before rendering.

The result reads like state-of-the-art extraction output.

A trailing minus stays: total = subtotal - discount applies on the following line.

A capitalized continuation stays split: UTF-8 style acronyms keep their hyphen.